DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-36 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 19-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The claims are directed to a signal directly or indirectly by claiming a medium and the Specification recites evidence where the computer readable medium is define as a "wave" (such as a carrier wave) and "RF link". In that event, the claims are directed to a form of energy which at present the office feels does not fall into a category of invention. Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bugnion et al., Patent No. 6,496,847 (hereafter Bugnion).

5. As per claims 1, 10, 19, 28, Bugnion teaches an apparatus comprising:

a processor having a normal execution mode (Fig 3, unit 360) and a host execution mode (Fig 3, unit 340);

a virtual machine monitor (VMM) operable in conjunction with the host execution mode to create at least one protected mode environment to operate guest software in a virtual machine (Column 6, lines 12-25; Column 13, lines 35-38);

wherein responsive to a command to switch between protected modes, the VMM causes the processor to atomically switch between an original protected mode environment and a target protected mode environment (Column 12, lines 20-25, lines 36-38, lines 53-57).

6. As per claims 2, 11, 20, 29, Bugnion teaches wherein switching between protected modes further includes entering a virtual machine execution (VMX) mode to enable virtual machine functionality (Column 6, lines 1-26; Column 5, lines 17-23).
7. As per claims 3, 12, 21, 30, Bugnion teaches a virtual machine control structure (VMCS) to store state information for use in switching between the original protected mode environment and the target protected mode environment, the VMCS to store state information related to the original protected mode environment (Column 4, lines 52-61).
8. As per claims 4, 13, 22, 31, Bugnion teaches wherein the virtual machine control structure (VMCS) further stores state information related to the target protected mode environment (Column 12, lines 53-57).
9. As per claims 5, 14, 23, 32, Bugnion teaches wherein the virtual machine control structure (VMCS) further stores a guest entry point field to point to a command used for instructing the processor to exit out of the original protected mode environment and a host entry point field to point to a command to instruct the processor to exit out of a virtual machine execution (VMX) mode (Column 11, lines 1-10, lines 21-26; Column 14, lines 11-23; Column 17, lines 25-33).
10. As per claims 6, 15, 24, 33, Bugnion teaches wherein the VMM causes the processor to enter a virtual machine execution (VMX) mode, to exit out of the original protected mode environment, and to enter into the target protected mode environment (Column 12, lines 20-25, lines 50-57; Column 13, lines 35-40; Column 18, lines 9-15).

11. As per claim 7, 16, 25, 34, Bugnion teaches wherein the VMM causes the target protected mode environment to exit out of the virtual machine (VMX) extension mode (Column 13, lines 35-40).

12. As per claims 8, 17, 26, 35, Bugnion teaches wherein the processor resumes operation with the target protected mode environment (Column 14, lines 5-10).

13. As per claims 9, 18, 27, 36, Bugnion teaches wherein guest software operable in a protected mode environment includes an operating system (Column 13, lines 37-38).
